

ABSTRACT

A method of programming a PMOS stacked gate memory cell is provided that utilizes a sequence of control gate pulses to obtain the desired potential on the floating gate.